DRINKS MENU

IN PURSUIT of GOOD TIMES

NoLIta, short for North of Little Italy, has always been a place where stories are written in conversation and laughter. In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, thousands of Italians left behind the sunlit hills and narrow streets of Italy, carrying with them the richness of their culture and the hope for a better life. They settled in the heart of lower Manhattan, where life was hard, but their spirit was unbreakable. Markets bustled with the scent of fresh basil and citrus, voices rose and fell over shared meals, and a sense of belonging grew between the cracks of the city's old brownstones.

Mulberry Street was alive with secrets. Smoky speakeasies and hidden social clubs pulsed with quiet deals and bold conversations. Figures like Lucky Luciano ruled the night, but the true soul of NoLIta was in the way people gathered over drinks, over music, over the hum of a city that never truly sleeps. Sinatra's Fly Me To The Moon carries the memory of those nights. Timeless. Effortless. Filled with the quiet thrill of possibility.

Our cocktail menu reflects this history. Like the Elizabeth Street Garden, inspired by the elegance of the French and Italian Riviera, these drinks are a blend of Italian tradition and New York edge. Fior di Passione by Matilde Serao tells a story of longing and forbidden love played out in the shadows of 19th-century Italy. That same passion lingers in every sip. The warmth of Trastevere at sunset. The lively chatter of Spring Street. The feeling that something unforgettable is just about to happen.

This is more than a menu. It's a celebration of connection, indulgence, and the quiet magic of finding yourself in the right place at the right time. So lean in close, let the night unfold, and join us in pursuit of good times.
